Rumor has it that the abolition of examinations for advancement at the Normal College, which took place about three years ago, has not worked as successfully as was anticipated. It has been found that a great many of the students are annually advanced on their term marks who do not deserve it, and who would fall to pass an examination. It is more than likely, therefore, that next year will see a return to the old method of requiring each student to take an examination.

The new of the second student to take an examination. partners of a dry-goods store, was a patient in the Seney Hospital, under treatment for a dermoid cyst. Thomas Gould, another partner, received a telegram parporting to have been sent by Partner Thomas Moyhan, ordering the Partner Thomas Moyhan, ordering the stare to be closed.

The employees were sent home and the establishment suspended business. When the fraud was discovered, a couple hours later, the employees were called back and the store reopened.

It is now alleged that F anagan was the author of the bogus despatch. He denies the charge.

The name of the winner of the McKim fellowship and the Prix de Rome was announced this week, the successful man for both prizes being John Russeil Pope, a graduate of the Columbia College School of Mines. The former prize amounts to $2,000 and is awarded every two years; the latter prize is an annual one, and requires the winner to spend two years at study in Italy. During this time he will receive $1,500 annually for expenses. Although the competition for the Prix de Rome was open to graduates of all srchitectural colleges, the honorable mentions as well as the winner are graduates of Columbia. The honorable mentions were Messra. Fellows, Emery, Ayres and Iossange.
